

ABSTRACT

A high roof structure of a vehicle includes a high roof formed from a RFP (Fiber Reinforced Plastics) with good durability, forming properties, and a reinforced structure
5 is integrally installed using a predetermined adhering member and engaging member. No welding is needed. An indoor height of a vehicle is increased to a desired size and a desired indoor floor space index is obtained.